entitled to receive it. A succession certificate is therefore necessary in all cases exceeding Rs. 10000. As the party concerned has agreed to produce a succession certificate, the amount may perhaps in the meanwhile be transferred to the state loan in the name of the deceased husband. But, I am doubtful whether the legality of it is right for Govt to issue a bond in favour of one who is dead. The Chief Secty (Legis.) may be consulted.

behalf deceased depositors by their next relations for converting the deposits into loan promissory notes. The then Govt Advocate who was consulted in the matter was of opinion that ~~loan bonds might be made out in the names of deceased~~ such applications might be entertained but the notes might be issued only to the legal representative of the deceased depositor on production of the needful Court Certificates. This ~~was done~~ procedure was accordingly adopted in all such cases and there are still some notes ~~etc~~ in the Comptroller's Custody which have not to be delivered. There does not therefore appear to be any objection to grant the request recommended by the Dpty Treasurer. Before issuing however any notice the Govt Advocate may perhaps be consulted.

Sir,

In forwarding herewith for perusal and obliging return report No. 101 dated 25th August 1920 with all its enclosures from the Amildar of Hassan, recommending the appropriation towards the 6¼ % State Loan of 1920 of Rs 6,000/- standing in the Mysore Savings Bank in the name of the deceased one Siddabasetty of Hassan, as applied by his wife, I have the honor to state that the Savings Bank Rules do, no doubt, contemplate the production of a succession certificate to withdraw any amount exceeding Rs 1,000/- from a deceased depositor's account, and in the present case, this has not been complied with.

2. I solicit instructions as to whether without a heirship certificate, the instructions of the widow and guardian of the minor children as regrds investment in the State Loan may be given effect to and if not whether the amount may be allowed to be withdrawn by the widow and invested in the name of the deceased himself.

3. The instructions in this case are likely to be of use in other cases also of a similar nature that may arise.

I have the honor to be,
